Best dressed

Vista Village

Exclusive neighborhood planned for town

Plans for an exclusive neighborhood consisting of 15 single-family homes have been announced for Drayton Valley.

Venture Realty and GEST Construction announced plans for the proposed development last week.

and exciting new concept in adult-only housing.

Vista Village will offer the best of two worlds — an exclusive neighborhood of 15 single-family homes with ownership (title) of lots, designed to give owners the freedom and maintenance-free living they have worked so hard for.

homes will be two-bedroom bungalow style, with everything, including laundry facilities on the main floor. All the homes will have full basements and either single or double garages.

Many options

Options such as main floor dens, jacuzzis, wet bars, intercom systems, central vac and fireplaces will also be available.

A private park area with barbecue pit and a practice putting green is also planned for the area.

Rod Schultz of Venture Realty is very optimistic about the development.

"We had a lot of requests from people after Horizon Village indicated an interest in Drayton Valley last March.

The response was there," Schultz said.

Ed Tremblay of GEST Construction is convinced there's a need for 15 homes. "Further projects will be addressed if there's a need," he said.

Various price ranges

The price of homes at Vista Village will range from the upper 80's to $135,000.

"We don't anticipate any problem selling the lots," Tremblay added.

In fact, four of the lots have already been spoken for.

Preliminary site work is expected to start around the end of March.

People interested in additional information are asked to call Rod Schultz at Venture Realty.

Different floor plans

Vista Village is ideal for those people whose children have grown up and moved away, and for those who no longer wish to maintain a large home and yard.

Design and construction is by GEST, who will be offering a number of different floor plans ranging in size from 1,000 square feet to 1,600 square feet. All the Plan in progress despite setback

The Drayton Valley and District Chamber of Commerce plans to proceed with their annual trade fair despite the loss of the arena.

President Helen Deal says the chamber will utilize the curling rink and are exploring other possibilities.

Due to the loss of the arena, which will be torn down to make way for a new administration complex, the chamber will loose considerable revenue.

Deal says the chamber is estimating a profit of $4,300 compared to $10,000 that has been generated at past trade fairs.

"We used that money to operate," Deal said.

Because of the expected shortfall, the chamber is expected to ask the town for more funds when they submit their annual budget.

The chamber president says they have talked to the town about the loss of the arena. She said they inquired about the possibility of using the arena during a lull in construction. "However, I don't see that as a possibility," Deal said.

Despite the loss of the arena this year Deal believes the trade fair must proceed. "It's very important that we keep doing it," she explained.

Local News Briefs

A trailer fire in Winfield last Monday that claimed the life of a 90-year-old man has been blamed on a wood burning stove.

According to Breton RCMP the fire investigation section in Edmonton reached that decision after checking into the incident.

According to information presented to a recent town council meeting, the Drayton Valley General Hospital is operating between 70 and 80 per cent occupancy while there is a waiting list for the extended care unit.

Trent Pankewicz, the former Drayton Valley Devil who is now playing for the Grande Prairie North Stars, was in fourth place in the individual scoring race. He had 28 goals and 29 assists for 55 points. The North Stars held down first place in the Peace Caribou junior loop with a 20-7 win/loss record.

The town took down the Christmas decorations last Wednesday.

Robin Wenbourne, the town's municipal secretary, has another job. She is the new secretary for the Ambulance Service Board.

Talks have started between the Town of Drayton Valley and the union. Last year the union employees accepted a freeze on a wage request. It's not known what they are asking for this year.

What is which? That is a question you might ask yourself after placing a call to the County of Parkland or ID 222 office.

In an effort to handle concerns for both the county and the new ID, your call will be addressed: This is the county/ID office. Then it's up to you; as to who you want to talk with.

The recreation department is anxiously waiting for news on their tourism grant project request. The town is asking for $75,000 which will go toward improvements at West Valley Park.

$4,344,150 total

Highest residential permit totals recorded

By Frank Ryan
The Town of Drayton Valley established a new record for residential building permits in '86.

According to figures released by building inspector Al Chesterman, residential permits in 1987 totalled $2,444,150. It's the highest total dating back to available records in 1980.

Residential construction in '86 totalled $3,701,700. The best year since 1980 was registered in '85 when residential construction accounted for $3,965,385.

Total building permits last year were $7,287,750, the fourth highest in the last seven years. Permits in '86 totalled $11,014,500.

The new Red Rooster, Mohawk store and gas bar, National Oilwell, Saan store, Arrow Welding, Mulligan Enterprises, Calvary Baptist Church and school additions at Evergreen elementary and St. Anthony's contributed to the '87 building permit total.

The '87 figure also included $1,464,100 in commercial permits with $895,500 for industrial work and $564,000 for institutional.

Building permits last month (December) totalled $498,000 compared to $635,000 in '86 and $215,500 in '85.

Forty-five new single-family dwelling permits were taken out last year compared to 47 two years ago and 39 in '85.

Building permits this year could top the $10-million mark.

Chesterman is predicting $7.5 million plus the town's $1.5 million arena and $1.1 million multi-purpose administration building.

Ambulance costs

'Full coverage would solve the confusion'

By Steve Fletcher
An Ambulance user who is surprised to find himself with a bill after being transferred to an Edmonton hospital is not alone, says the operator of the Drayton Valley Ambulance Service.

Dick de Jong said many of those requiring transfers are unaware they are not insured for the cost of the ambulance trip — which can run as high as $600.

Long-standing government policy dictates that Alberta Health Care cover inpatient transfers only.

Those who are not admitted to the Drayton Valley hospital or are instead required to seek medical attention at another facility must pay their ambulance bills out of their own pockets or through another agency.

If the sole reason for going to the Drayton Valley hospital is to be stabilized, and they are not admitted, then they are responsible for the cost of the ambulance," de Jong said.

He added that social assistance, Worker's Compensation, and the Blue Cross all cover out-patient ambulance charges.

Victims of motor vehicle accidents are also insured.

de Jong admitted that his service often has trouble collecting from those who find themselves without coverage for their ambulance rides.

"A lot of people say they would have taken a taxi, or would have had their husbands take them in to Edmonton if they had known they would be charged."

The simple solution would be for everyone to obtain a Blue Cross card, he suggested.

"I'd say one out of three (ambulance users) have Blue Cross, but this may be misleading because of the number of people with company insurance."

Drayton Valley hospital executive director Jim Jansen says he shares de Jong's concern about out-patient ambulance costs.

"We're in a bit of a quandary," he said. "We have been lobbying the government to straighten it out."

Full coverage for ambulance use under medicare would "solve the confusion," Jansen pointed out.

He noted the Alberta Hospital Association has been seeking a complete government review of the province's ambulance services for a decade.

Women and Smoking...

This is National Non Smoking Week. It ends on 'Weedless Wednesday', Jan. 20 (tomorrow). This year's theme is 'Women and Smoking.'

"Women and Smoking is an appropriate theme for this year as more women are beginning to smoke than men. A tragic realization of this is the fact that lung cancer will exceed breast cancer as the leading cause of death for women this year," says D.J. Lewonuk, executive director of the Alberta Lung Association (ALA).

Weedless Wednesday, the day everyone is encouraged to quit, will feature the grant Smoke-Buster T-shirt giveaway. Every baby born in Alberta Jan. 20 (tomorrow) will receive a tiny Smoke-Buster T-shirt free of charge from the ALA.

They depend on the annual Christmas Seal campaign, which runs from Nov. 1 to Jan. 31, to support research and the many educational and community services programs that they offer year-round.

Opinions

Arena users may be out in the cold

One of the biggest losers in the town's decision to tear down the existing Centennial Civic Arena at the same time a new arena is being built, will be the Drayton Valley and District Chamber of Commerce.

In September the chamber holds their annual trade fair, usually utilizing both the arena and the curling rink.

But that won't be possible in '88. Only the curling rink will be available.

And, the chamber could face a similar dilemma in '89. The new arena in West Valley Park should be ready, but it will be half-way across town to the curling rink.

So it appears that if the chamber goes ahead with their annual trade fair, they will have to be happy with the curling rink in '88 and the arena in '89.

By 1990, the new curling rink and arena should be in place, almost next door to each other.

Another group that could find themselves out in the cold next winter are the arena ice users. What will happen if the arena isn't ready in October?

What's surprising about the situation is, that the chamber and minor hockey have said very little, if anything. It won't be long before the contracts are let, then it will be too late to say anything.

Should Calgary's bars and lounges be allowed to open on Sundays during the Olympics?

"I think it's a good idea. And people are going to travel around so they might as well spread the hospitality by allowing bars in other communities to open."

Tremendous response from community and area

One of the most helpless feelings is watching someone's house go up in flames.

That was the case for me on Jan. 6th when I attended the Herman Berry fire, one mile north of the Birchwood Village Greens golf course and resort.

Fortunately, everyone got out of the house.

The brighter side to this story, has been the tremendous response and support of the people.

The RED CROSS (remember them when they come around for a donation) in Drayton Valley played a key role in assisting the family with bedding. The County of Leduc, service clubs in town, residents both in town and from the Lindale/Berry Moor area are to be commended for their thoughtfulness.

A benefit dance and social was held last Saturday night and a miscellaneous shower is planned. If anyone wants to assist the Berry family, please call Joyce at 542-3322.

After the fire at Berry's I stopped into Birchwood to visit with Don and Maria Zemaitas.

It was lunch time, so Maria was kind enough to offer me lunch. Who'd refuse homemade bread?

The Zemaitas are getting a well deserved break from their first summer at Bir-chwood. But, they are eager to get going with the '88 season.

Don and Maria are two tremendous people I met this past summer on the golf course.

We're looking forward to playing at Birchwood again this summer.

The Edmonton Eskimos lost some of my respect in the way they handled their coaches at the end of last season. The coaches direct the club to the Grey Cup, then they get their pink slips.

It has been suggested to the Eskimos that if they are so concerned about all the empty seats in Commonwealth Stadium, that they should do some promoting in rural Alberta. It appears that the football fan in Edmonton has lost interest.

New arena leaves unanswered questions

Dear Editor,

With all the talk of a new arena and curling facility being built for next fall, there are a lot of unanswered questions that should be looked at and answered, before the present arena and curling rink receive demolition orders:

- What assurances are there that an arena and curling rink will be available for use next fall?
- Which features of the complex are important to the user: concession, lobby size, cosmetics, parking, location, quality of ice, size of ice surface or interior features?

• What measures are going to be taken to ensure a reduction in the operation costs of this complex over the present facilities?

• Do the users from the county and community favor a complex housing an indoor arena with fixed seating for 250 spectators, curling facilities and an indoor ice surface?

Letters

• How much ice time would the outdoor ice surface be available for and who would use it?

• How much added cost would there be for two indoor arenas?

• How much added cost would there be for the complex to supply a conference space on a rental basis?

• What accommodations are being made for future expansion?

• Is the planning of this complex being handled with future use in mind or is it a quick fix answer to a major problem?

I feel the people responsible for the planning of this facility should look at these questions and many others.

They have been given a fantastic opportunity to provide the community and county with a facility we will be proud to call our own. If the thoughts of a 1,000 square foot lobby is enough to satisfy their needs, then I am afraid it will be an opportunity squandered.

Thank you,
Jeff Cartwright

New arena plans

Writer doesn't understand pros and cons

Dear Editor,

Re: The new arena and old arena.

I really don't understand all the pros and cons of the proposals of selling the town hall, selling the library (which cost us $255,000 plus one-million in renovations only a short while ago).

And the town hall, which was built so as to accommodate a second storey if necessary, and was large enough a few years ago to contain the library, the police force, recreation office and the used clothing depot.

And the so-called 'old' arena 120 years old. If it isn't good enough to skate in, how is it ever going to be good enough for a town hall, fire department and library?

Why can't we have a nice brick building on a nice piece of land for a library - other towns do. And another nice building centrally located on a nice piece of land for a museum? And what's wrong with the town hall as is?

The 'old' arena might do for a fire hall. It was possible for the fire trucks to get out of there on a straight street in any one direction. You asked for opinions and that's mine.

Yours truly,
Ella Kelly

Leonard Mohr's Em-Te Town near Alder Plaza is getting a lot of attention.

Mohr, who built the old west town, where he is mayor, sheriff and jailer has been interviewed by CBC, Alberta Report, the Edmonton Journal and two Calgary

Drayton Valley officers heading to Calgary Olympics

By Steve Fletcher

Two Drayton Valley RCMP officers are set to travel to Calgary next month as part of the huge security apparatus required when the world comes to Alberta for the Winter Olympics.

Cpl. Tim Vatanianuk and Const. Jeff Smith were selected to participate. Both will be in Calgary for about three weeks.

"It's a once in a lifetime opportunity," said Smith, who will be assigned to VIP security.

Smith's experience as a downhill skier was one of the reasons he was chosen to work at the Games.

Vatanianuk leaves on Feb. 3 and will be stationed at Canada Olympic Park.

While Smith will be attached to a plainclothes team, Vatanianuk will remain in uniform as part of the "high police profile" intended for the international sporting event.

Vatanianuk said security will extend beyond Calgary and the Olympic site and include places such as Kanaskis Park, Niska and Banff.

With a large number of officers attending the Olympics, Vatanianuk said it's not unusual for two members of the same rural detachment to be sent down.

"Security at the Olympics is a major priority for K Division (Alberta RCMP headquarters)," he pointed out. "We hear they're also bringing them in from B.C., Manitoba and Saskatchewan."

Just like many of the athletes, the RCMP have been diligently preparing for the Olympics for two years.

For Smith, the Olympics marks perhaps his last assignment as a member of the Drayton Valley detachment. Smith will be transferring to Taber as soon as he can sell his house.

Jan. 1 baby one-month premature

'Kicker' a surprise New Year's present for the Hills

By Steve Fletcher
Warren and Cathy Hill never anticipated they'd be spending New Year's Eve in a delivery room at an Edmonton hospital.

That was until their baby, Ryan Kyle Warren Hill, decided to enter the world prematurely - 4 1/2 hours in the new year at the Royal Alexandra Hospital.

Indeed, had complications not required a transfer to the city, Ryan, who weighed a healthy six pounds six ounces despite his premature birth, would have been the first baby born in Drayton Valley.

Drayton Valley's official New Year's baby arrived some 30 hours later.

For the Hills, however, this fact matters little.

"We've been waiting four years for kids," said Warren, a production operator at Amoco.

The arrival of their first child, however, was anything but routine.

Cathy went into labor on Dec. 31 - one month before expected.

In addition, their baby was in a frank-breeched position - something the ultrasound technician had told them but had failed to mention it in a report to the family doctor.

These complications, and the advice of a nurse who had seen this sort of thing before, led the Hills to decide to transfer to Edmonton.

Cathy travelled by ambulance while Warren followed behind in his car.

When they reached the Royal Alex, it was the anxious would be father's turn to have complications.

Pulling up into the hospital garage, the garage door - timed with a 10 second delay - began to close down to within millimetres of his car.

"Cathy ran out and pushed the button for me treating the garage door," said Warren.

It was then that one of his tires suddenly went flat.

The rest of the stay in Edmonton went comparatively smoothly. Ryan was the fourth baby born at the Royal Alex in 1988.

The family returned to Drayton Valley a few days later, where Cathy and Ryan were re-admitted to the health complex.

Her only regret is that the family doctor, Rosalyn Beacom, didn't deliver the child, Cathy said.

"The main reason we returned is because we wanted to bring him back to Dr. Beacom."

Beacom was "exceptionally helpful" during the 3 1/2 years the couple attempted to have children, added Warren.

Cathy and Ryan, who spent his first days in an incubator because of a liver problem, left the hospital Jan. 9.

Ten days is enough," Cathy remarked.

Warren added that he has already come to know his son quite well over the short period of time.

"He responds to my voice, I used to read to him and sing him songs (when he was in the womb)."

The father added his son is especially receptive when called "Kicker" - a nickname given to him when Cathy was 33 three months pregnant.

Warren stressed he would also like to congratulate Marjorie and Larry Westlund, parents of Drayton Valley's New Year's baby.

"Tell them we'll beat them next year," he joked.

Cathy and Warren Hill with son Ryan.

Pelican sale

Weyerhaeuser, a lumber giant based in the United States, now has an interest in Pelican Spruce Mills.

Bob Olson, plant manager at Sturdi Wood says Weyerhaeuser is a silent partner. He confirmed reports the new partner purchased less than 49 per cent.

According to Olson, there won't be any change in the operation of Sturdi Wood.

Asked about the possibility of a chip board plant, Olson said that was still a rumor.

H.W. Pickup looking for coach

Basketball enthusiasm evident at most schools

By Stacey Urlesky
Basketball season is underway at most Drayton Valley schools.

And, it's being met with enthusiasm by the players.

St. Anthony's and H.W. Pickup have just recruited their basketball teams and will be starting games soon.

Signs of that enthusiasm are evident at St. Anthony's where 45 boys and 35 girls turned out for their junior/senior teams.

"We have an extremely high Grade 7 height. The average for the team is five-foot seven inches," says Wayne Tourneur, girls' coach. "We have some amazons here."

If your team is looking for a game, call the coaches at St. Anthony's.

St. Anthony is looking forward to their first game Jan. 26 against H.W. Pickup.

Meanwhile at H.W. Pickup, they are still looking for a coach for their junior girls team.

Because of the large number of boys who turned out at H.W. Pickup, four teams will be formed and play interlocking games between each other.

The best of the four teams will be the A team and will represent the H.W. Pickup at the county games.

Students and coaches are keen on participation and hoping, they will have a few matches against Estevic and Tomahawk.

Basketball fever is well underway at Frank Maddock high where the boys' (Warrior) team has recorded four wins in nine outings and the girls (Amazons) have two wins in seven starts.

"We have some real players for our team! It's a discipline team and play good defense," said Mark Smith, coach of the girls' team.

"We have to iron out our weaknesses and work out on a regular basis," concluded Smith.

"The team was on top but the last few games were rough," he added.

"But we're having a lot of fun."

The basketball teams at Frank Maddock are gearing up for a hectic schedule next month. They have games with Edson, Stettler and Breton and will also be hosting a tournament.

Meet the coaches, etc...

The Drayton Valley Miner Hockey Association has an impressive line-up of coaches, assistants and managers.

In the mighty mite division, Kevin Henry is coach of Blocks and is assisted by Wayne Labossiere and Brian Babcock. Lorne Woyanowich and Jerry Wilkes combine their talents to look after Rick's team.

In novice, Tom Turner is the head coach of Warden, assisted by Phil Avison and Tim Vatamink. Rick LaPointe is coach of Mobit with assistants Brent Piblot and Paul DePazie. Dave Getz-inger handles Nelson's and is joined by Ralph Moman and Will Schadeck. The Sunburst coaching staff includes Dan Davis and Armand Labonte.

In the atom division, Andy Jean is coach of D.V. Meter along with assistant Rick Brigley and manager Phil Schneider. Les Hewlett and Dan Davis look after Sunshine. Sandy Buchan and Les Sinclair are Bradnor's coaches while Tim Melnychuk is the coach of the Mobawk team and assisted by Ron Simpson and Rick Lapointe.

The line-up in the pee wee division has Dwayne Winter handling the coaching reins for Pile Base with Herb Reich and Andy Davidson splitting the assistant coach's duties and Dwight Kuzek handles the manager's chores. Leonard Marcotte is coach of Plint and is joined by assistant Simon Kelly and manager Emilie Vogel. Lanny Schultz and Bernie Lahey handle Hi West with Garry Janzen serving as manager.

Laurent St. Louis is coach of the Norette bantams and is assisted by Yves Robitaille and manager Dale Warren. The Elks bantam coaching staff includes Tom Gartner and Bernie Frost along with manager Ken McKeanie.

Oilmen's/Heritage B hockeySize of dressing rooms, seating capacity a concern

By Frank Ryan
If the new arena isn't ready in October as planned it could be disastrous for some of the ice users.

Dale Schwab, president of the 12-team Pembina Oilmen's Commercial Hockey League says if the new arena in West Valley Park isn't ready Oct. 1 his league will have to look elsewhere for ice.

We might not operate Schwab said.

If we have to sit out a year, it will take two years to get going again.

The league already has problems.

Because of their game times, usually 10:30 p.m., the league is having trouble keeping players, who are often still at the rink at 1 a.m. In a move to keep the league operational, ice has been obtained at Warburg for $55 per hour $2 more than Drayton Valley, but games start at 8:30 p.m.

Schwab, who is also a referee, would like to see two indoor ice surfaces, as opposed to one in and one out which the town is proposing.

The only correspondence the Oilmen's Commercial league has had with the town was a quest for an indoor ice surface. They asked us if we could use the outdoor facility. And we told them we couldn't, Schwab stated.

The size of the dressing rooms and the number of seats is also a concern to the league. The league presidents would like to see more than 250 seats and urges the town to look at good size dressing rooms.

Why go ahead with a second rate facility, he remarked.

If the new arena isn't ready by Oct. 1 as planned, the Devils will have to drop out of the Heritage Junior B Hockey League.

That's the opinion of Devils' coach/general manager Harvey Allen.

Their league schedule is drawn up in September and usually starts in mid-October.

Allen says plans for 250 seats is totally inadequate. Lots of times last year we had 300 and 400 people out to our games. Even a bad crowd is 160. It should seat at least 500, he said.

He also wants to see some good size dressing rooms.

And as far as the outdoor ice, there's no way the juniors can use it. "Natural ice is coarse. It's too hard on skates," Allen says.

Meanwhile, George Berquist, chairman of the Community Centre Society, says he hasn't had any communication with the town in regards to plans for the new arena.

We're hoping to see the plans. We want to see what it looks like, Berquist says.

Berquist said he would be satisfied with a natural ice outdoor rink.

But he is concerned with the size of dressing rooms and the seating.

Architect's drawings for new arena sent back for fine-tuning

Recreation director Paul Nielsen has seen the first set of drawings for Drayton Valley's new arena.

However, they have been sent back to the architect for some fine-tuning.

Nielsen says they were just conceptual drawings, and the town wanted to shift some things around and look at some different angles.

Another set of drawings could be back within a week to 10 days.

The recreation director also said that once the drawings are more definite, ice users will get a chance to see what's planned.

Hal Anker, minor hockey president, is more than happy with that.

The minor hockey boys talked to Nielsen last Thursday the morning after an executive meeting and was told the recreation director would meet with them and answer any questions.

If for some reason the new arena isn't ready Oct. 1 as the town has indicated, Anker says minor hockey could live with a month's delay. They had planned a skating school for September but that will be put on the back burner for another year.

Howard Vickers teaches lessons.

Vickers moves on

The Drayton Valley Golf Club is looking for a new professional.

Howard Vickers, who held the job for four years, will be leaving in mid March for a similar job in Nanton.

"It was a very tough decision," Vickers said. He made the decision to take the Nanton offer during the Christmas/New Year's holiday.

The course at Nanton is an 18-hole layout. Vickers says that was a determining factor in his decision. "Eighteen holes is a couple of years away here," he explained.

Wednesday

Benefit game

The biggest hockey game of the season will be played tomorrow (Wednesday) night in the Drayton Valley Arena.

Nelson's Atoms, the local girls' hockey team, will face off with the Teachers in an 8 p.m. exhibition game.

The big winners in the game will be the Herman

"It's good for me to make the move at this time.

Vickers, who is currently working at the Drayton Valley ski hill, will be leaving to mid March and starts his new job at Nanton April 1.

Archie Hood, golf club president said Vickers' decision was completely unexpected. "He's looking for greener pastures," Hood said. The vacancy has been posted with the Canadian Professional Golfers Association, who will circulate it to all eligible professionals. The club has set a deadline of Jan. 31 for applications.

Berry family of Lindsale, who recently lost their home and all their personal belongings in a fire.

Members of the Kinsmen club will be in attendance at the game, taking a silver collection.

According to one of the teachers, this is one game you don't want to miss.

Girls' hockey tourney

Whitecourt Stars win it all

By Frank Ryan
The Whitecourt Stars went undefeated in winning the girls' hockey tournament in town last Saturday.

But it wasn't easy. The Stars downed Thorhild 4-1 and blanked Thorsby 5-0 in round robin play before meeting the Warburg Lady Hawks in the A final.

The Lady Hawks held period leads of 1-0 and 4-2 before the roof fell in during the third period.

After Warburg scored on their own net to narrow the count to 4-2, the goal seemed to spark the Stars and deflate the Lady Hawks. Leanne Stratton made it 4-3 followed by power plays goals by Joanne Sawday and Bev Thomlinson.

Arna Bryant had two of the Warburg goals with Marisa Hestup and Keri Rempel adding singles.

Laine Kwiatkowsky scored twice as Drayton Valley's Nelson Atoms defeated Warham 6-4 in the B final. Maureen Bannard, Mandy Nelson, Correen Baumann and Terri Kwiatkowsky also scored for Nelson.

In round robin play Laine Kwiatkowsky scored four goals and her sister added one in a 5-4 win over Warham after losing their first game by a 4-2 count to Warburg.

In the C final, Thorhild downed Thorsby 5-1 as Leona Davids had two goals for the winners. Thorhild had one win in the round robin as they edged Warburg 5-5.

One other score from the round robin saw Warham edge Thorsby 4-3.

Devils blow lead

Goaltending a problem

By Frank Ryan
The Drayton Valley Devils lost two games on the weekend.

On Saturday night in Rimbey they dropped a 9-1 decision to the Heritage Junior League leaders after blowing a 3-0 lead and losing 5-5 to the visiting Lacombe Wranglers 24 hours earlier.

Despite the loss to Rimbey, Devils coach Harvey Allen thought his club played well. "Every time we made a mistake the score was 4-3 scored," Allen said.

Goaltender Brian Tipper came in for some praise from his coach despite the score. "He stopped a penalty shot when the game was scoreless," Allen added.

A powerplay goal by Robin Cockwill earned the Devils an early 1-1 tie with Rimbey.

However, Allen was not happy with the play of goalie Ed Woods in the loss to Lacombe.

With coach Allen and captain Chad Allen watching from the stands after being ejected at 15:38 of the opening period, the Devils stayed with the Wranglers until late in the third period.

Before being ejected along with the Wranglers'

Action around the Devils' net.

Darren Drager, Allen had given the Devils a 1-0 lead. Shaun Russell made it 2-0 at 16:49 and Brent Floita made it 3-0 early in the second. But Lacombe stormed back for a 4-3 second period lead.

Russell, with his second of the game made it 4-4 at 51:2 of the third only to have the visitors go ahead 20 seconds later. Then Everett Ness tied it at the 15:31 mark before

Lacombe erupted for two goals in 93 seconds and added an empty net marker to wrap up the win.

The Devils have two games this weekend. They host Hobbema in an 8 p.m. game Friday and travel to Spruce Grove Sunday.

Any minor hockey league player who wears his sweater to Friday's game will be admitted free.

Big win

Local girls down Warburg club 6-2

Nelson's Atoms recorded a 'big' win Sunday afternoon. The Drayton Valley girls downed the visiting Warburg Lady Hawks 5-2 for their first win of the season over their arch rivals.

Maureen Bannard led Nelson's with a pair of goals. Brenda Carrothers, Correen Baumann, Laine and Terri Kwiatkowsky added singles. Keri and Shauna Rempel replied for Warburg.

Treasury Branch manager Rick Jenkins was on hand to present most valuable player medals to George Frit Lee, Nelson's goaltender and Warburg's Pam Worsht.

Special needs association

Understanding, support offered

By Stacey Orlesky
Having difficulties with a member of your family can be stressful and emotional.

Drayton Valley's Regional Special Needs Association is a support group for those who have a disabled family member and want to help themselves by talking about the problems and to help the disabled in general.

The group is open to anyone who has a need for understanding and support. Grandmothers, sisters, children, fathers, mother, any member can come and share ideas and problems.

New having funds donated by the legion, the organization will now be able to have various speakers on the types of subjects the group wishes to hear about.

The organization helped us by helping when you are dealing with a problem and someone shares their experience when they went through a similar problem, said Debbie Gramlich, a member of the support group.

I wish people who are having problems would come and listen in one of our meetings. We're there to help and we'd like them to know we are there for them, said Linda Louni, president of the group.

Disaster services

Disaster Services will be holding a training program Feb. 5 to prepare volunteers in times of major emergencies.

The course, to be taught by officials from Alberta Public Safety Services, will take place between 1:30 to 4 p.m. at the town office.

Those interested in taking the course should contact Turner at the town office (542-5321). Deadline is Jan. 29.

These issues of problems the group is dealing with a member during a stage or talking about something new they've learned are a few of the topics the group discusses.

For a town this small we do have a high rate of disabilities," said Louni.

"It's essential that you deal with the problem. At the meetings no one is left out in left field," added Gramlich.

Those who have gone through the difficulties of dealing with a disabled person can help those who are living themselves in the same predicament.

"Thank you for those who have been coming to the meeting and hope you keep coming to help new members," said Louni.

The next meeting is Jan. 26 at the provincial building starting at 7:30 p.m. Anyone interested is welcome to attend.

Winnipeg native

New officer

By Stacey Orlesky

Drayton Valley's new police officer is a recent recruit who came to the profession with a taste about what life was like in the RM of CV.

Laura Routledge's stepfather is in the force, as is her uncle. Her mother worked in an RCMP telecommunications unit.

Routledge says this was the chief motivational factor behind her decision to enlist.

Routledge, 22, is a Winnipeg native who graduated from the RCMP Training depot in Regina just prior to Christmas.

She arrived in Drayton Valley at the start of January and must now undergo six months of recruit field training under the guidance of senior officer Const. Doug Hill.

After that, Routledge can expect to remain in town for three to five years — the average length of stay at a first posting.

She says she's not troubled by the fact she's the only female officer at the detach ment.

"It doesn't bother me — there have been females here previously," Routledge noted.

It is not as hard for females to enlist right now because there's a high demand for high school Routledge enrolls them in the force.

After graduating from an eight-week course, it's a six and then worked in the prison for a year, working at a bank. She was also employed for a time at a racetrack before being called to train out at the Regina depot in June 1987.

Life in Regina wasn't too bad, although she started working at a cold never end, she said.

Regina was a wonderful place at a woman troop at the time, despite my four such troops in training during her six month stay.

One of her favorite subjects was marksmanship, which she discovered she had a special aptitude for at depot.

As a junior officer, Routledge is now spending 12-hour days reviewing Alberta statistics and dealing mainly with routine investigations.

She pointed out that recruits are encouraged to work "voluntarily overtime when they're first starting out."

Routledge said she's looking forward to her stay in Drayton Valley.

Live it even the size of it doesn't bother me. It's nice to have a change of scenery.

Two day workshop helps deal with potential suicides

A suicide prevention training workshop scheduled for later this week has been fully booked.

The two-day workshop geared to professional caregivers will be held Thursday and Friday at the Drayton Valley and District Health Complex.

Thirty-two people have registered for the course, two more than the maximum.

Menta Health therapist Kelly Fredericksen says she is pleased with the response and doesn't rule out holding a second workshop in the fall if interest remains at the same level.

The purpose of the Kentucky Fried Chicken Mid-summer opening

Construction will start just as soon as the work is done.

Seibert says the project was held up due to a change in plans.

Kentucky Fried Chicken is looking at a mid-summer opening.

workshop is held so open for tripartite, the attitudes, knowledge and skills needed to recognize and assess suicidal behaviour.

It's a really good program, said Fredericksen who participated in the course four years ago.

He added that the training should help to better in form a register about deal with the potential suicides.

Dr. Fredericksen said she will create a larger network of volunteers capable of dealing with the problem.

The workshop is run by Calgary-based Suicide Prevention Training Programs an affiliate of the Canadian Mental Health Association.

The organization's Drayton Valley office was sponsored by the local agency group, a new association composed of representatives from various social agencies and set up to discuss community issues of interest to the area, and Powerhouse further education courses.

Lodgepole schoolSour gas open house Thursday

The Calgary firm that plans to drill a sour gas well in the area this winter will hold an open house this Thursday from 3 to 9 p.m. at the Lodgepole School.

Representatives from Enor Engineering Corp. and Udon who plan to drill the well, ERCB and other government agencies will be in attendance at the open house to answer any questions.

The well centre, located approximately eight kilometres northeast of Lodgepole will penetrate subsurface formations that are expected to yield hydrocarbons containing hydrogen sulphide. H₂S commonly referred to as sour gas.

The ERCB Energy Resources Conservation Board considers this well a critical sour well due to its potential hydrogen sulphide release rate and proximity to a populated area.

The purpose of this well is to test subsurface formations that are thought to hold commercial reserves of crude oil or natural gas.

DV Presents Fiddler on the Roof Jan. 30

Fiddler on the Roof coming...

One of the most popular musicals ever written, Fiddler on the Roof, will be coming to Drayton Valley Jan. 30.

The 8 p.m. performance at the H.W. Pickup junior high school is being presented by the Alberta Opera Touring Association in cooperation with Drayton Valley Presents.

Fiddler on the Roof combines poignant drama, familiar songs (If I Were a Rich Man, Sunrise, Sunset and Do You Love Me?) along with very human comedy. It is a story of how Tevye and his wife and daughters struggle to hold onto their traditions in the midst of a changing, modern world.

Alberta Opera is a professional company in the midst of its fourth year. Since its inception in '84, Alberta Opera has performed more than 100 community shows and 500 school shows, to the delight of audiences all over Western Canada.

Its repertoire grows bigger and bigger every year, and includes Gilbert and Sullivan's The Mikado, The Patsies, Rumpelstiltskin, Little Red Riding Hood Beauty and the Beast and Rodgers' and Hammerstein's musical Oklahoma! which was a big hit in Drayton Valley last season.

The company's co-founders, Janet Smith and Derril Butler, play the roles of Golde and Tevye in the Jan. 30 production. They have both sung major roles for opera companies in Canada. There will be 18 angles in the cast of Fiddler on the Roof.

Tickets are available at Penny's, D.E.J. Confectionery and at the door.

Needed 208 nights

Lack of commitment — no bingo hall

A lack of commitment from local groups has forced the Drayton Valley Community Bingo Association to shelve plans for a bingo hall.

Association vice-president Ron Reich said 12 organizations represented at a meeting last Thursday could only commit to 120 nights of bingo over one year.

Shandy Enterprises Ltd., a Drayton Valley company which planned to run the commercial hall, required 208 bingo nights to make the project a success.

Reich said several club executives were unable to commit themselves to a bingo hall because their terms were coming to a close.

Shandy Enterprises spokesman Cliff Jorgensen said last September that a commercial hall would need to have bingo functions four times a week to survive.

The idea of a commercial bingo was originally opposed by the Elks and the Royal Canadian Legion both which believed it would injure their own regularly scheduled bingo nights.

The community bingo association is currently at a standstill, Reich said.

Grants won't cover inflation — MacLellan

The 1.5 per cent increase in post-secondary education grants announced recently by the province won't result in any big windfall for the Pembina Educational Consortium.

Consortium to submit bid for town office

The Pembina Educational Consortium plans to submit a bid for the town of Loe.

"We will be submitting an offer," says Joe MacLellan, consortium executive director.

MacLellan told The Western Review last week that he was busy preparing the official documents for the minister's approval.

Joe MacLellan, the consortium's executive director is only expecting about $6,000.

"It won't cover the inflation," MacLellan commented.

If the consortium is successful, MacLellan says some major renovations will have to be carried out.

As far as the parking is concerned, he feels the three lots that would be included in the sale price, would be adequate for the next year or so.

MacLellan likes the idea of having the consortium downtown, where it is accessible.

However, he was thankful that it wasn't another cut, like last year's three per cent rollback.

The consortium director said the 1.5 per cent grant in credits to him, that education and training doesn't have a very high priority with the government.

What's frustrating for MacLellan is that the lack of funds are hurting programs.

"We have 200 people waiting for programs," he said last week.

One of these programs is for registered nursing assistants. It had to be dropped last year due to a lack of funding. This program currently has 180 people on a waiting list.

Because of the size of the recent grant, MacLellan is not sure if there will be enough funds to offer the program in September.

"So many people are caught in the squeeze. In the long run we're going to pay for the lack of training," MacLellan added.

Pool figures up

More than 85,000 people used the Park Valley indoor swimming pool last year.

Statistics supplied by the town show that 85,295 people used the pool compared with 81,875 in '86.

In its first 11 months (Feb. to Dec 1 of '85 the pool registered 87,162 users.

Barry Thompson, owner of The Rig
Meet the Manager

Labor of love for new Rig owner

By Steve Fletcher
A love of kids and an interest in sports has led Barry Thompson to his latest business venture.
Thompson took over as owner-manager of The Rig six weeks ago, and believes it's a job he's well suited for.
"I think at 41 I've finally found where I belong," says the former sheet metal worker.
Born in Fischer Creek, Thompson has been a resident of Drayton Valley since 1954.

He was involved in sheet metal work for 24 years, which was interspersed with years that included owning a plumbing and a wireline.

Thompson, who founded the local boxing club along with Tom Turner and Doug Bolanatz, says he now hopes to increase young people's knowledge of the game of pool — and give the sport the recognition it deserves.

Currently involved in organizing several pool leagues, including one for high school students, Thompson says he's willing to offer free lessons if enough interest is shown.

He added that anyone wishing to set up a mixed league should contact him at The Rig.
Thompson is also gearing toward holding a spring tournament.

Apart from pool, The Rig is also planning to establish a points board at its arena with a stereo system up for grahs for the top point getter.

Thompson said, the weightlifting room is as popular as ever, with 77 members — 40 per cent of whom are women.

"For a small town, it's probably one of the best equipped there is," he noted, adding that further equipment purchases are in the works.

The weightlifting room now operates a playpen service every weekday between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. for restless conscious mothers with young children.

Smoker's lament

By C. Vesely

Ashes to ashes

Flirt to flirt

All this puffing and hacking is splitting my gut

I can barely see 'cause the smoke is so thick

Yet I keep reaching for another filthy stick

When people ask what I get out of this torture and pain,

I proudly flash my bright nicotine stain

The coolest part of smoking is flicking by lie.

And Doc says my lungs and brows should grow back pretty quick.

I want to quit smoking, Lord: I really have tried.

But I think it's too late now, my lungs are both fried

What a sad sight I am, in my smoke-seined clothes

With a cigarette in my mouth and smoke up my nose

The years I've smoked off my life now equal eleven

Will you answer just one question, Lord?

Are there smokers in heaven?

Funds a concern

Pembina expansion possible

The Pembina Educational Consortium would like to expand into Rocky Mountain House.

But according to consortium director Joe MacLellan, the funds may not be available.

It really concerns us MacLellan said last week.

A decision on funding from Alberta Advanced Education won't be known until late spring.

MacLellan reports a keen interest in Rocky. "They see it as an ideal organization to have."

Some of the courses the consortium would like to offer in Rocky include academic upgrading, computers and business, teleconference, technical and trades.

For the past three years the consortium has also been offering courses in Whitecourt.

"It's been very encouraging," the director stated.

The lumber industry has been a dominant factor in Whitecourt. Some of the course demands have been for heavy duty mechanics, steam fitters, business and computers.

Due to a lack of funds MacLellan says some of the courses being offered are done on a cost recovery basis. "It's the only way some of these can be delivered," he said.

Besides offering courses in Drayton Valley and Whitecourt and hoping to expand into Rocky Mountain House, the consortium has also received inquiries from Wetaskiwin, Westlock and Barrhead.

Convictions a victory

The Federal Court of Appeal has scored a victory for average Canadians, by convicting two federal cabinet ministers of contempt of court.

The decision goes half way to ensuring the government is responsible to the people, by making ministers answerable for the actions or inaction of their departments.

Now it is up to Prime Minister Brian Mulroney to take it the rest of the way. He must order an inquiry, determine who was responsible for the shenanigans that led to the contempt convictions, and see that they are penalized.

That may be the convicted ministers, Joe Clark and Flora MacDonald, or it may be officials who work in their departments.

The two ministers are among the most experienced, competent and respected in the Mulroney cabinet. But they failed to ensure that a file was produced by their bureaucrats on time for an immigration hearing, in response to a court order.

They may not have been aware of the situation, or the fact that a court order had been issued. If that is the case, their officials are at fault for not warning them.

In any event, the failure of the two ministers in contempt of court and every other cabinet minister to clear their names that they must take charge of the departments. Mr. Clark and Mrs. MacDonald may be ordered to publicly apologize or pay a fine. But whatever the court orders, the penalty will be small compared to the one government has already paid.

The real price is the public embarrassment and political damage the Progressive Conservative government has suffered by having ministers convicted.

Clearly no government would care to endure the humiliation. Clearly this government above all, with its reputation for bungling, can not afford a repeat.

Prime Minister Brian Mulroney can communicate that up and down the line of government by determining precisely how this boondoggle occurred. Bureaucrats must know that their jobs are on the line if their decisions put ministers in such politically costly situations.

Electoral districts must adjust to create new seats

By Joe Clark, MP
Yellowhead

In 1972 when I was seeking my first nomination to Parliament, seven of my 10 nominating meetings were held in Jasper, Hinton, Grande Cache, Edson, Whitecourt, Swan Hills and Drayton Valley.

For 15 years since, I have represented the communities and others in Parliament. Since 1979 I have represented additional communities like Barrhead, Swiftsburg, Fort Assiniboine, Stony Grove and Stettin Plains.

Now, because Alberta's population has grown, there will be new constituencies added in the province.

The redistribution of riding boundaries takes place after each 10-year census.

According to the 1981 census, Alberta's population was 2,677,721. As a result, through the principle of representation by population, Alberta has become entitled to 26 seats, an increase of five seats over its present representation of 21.

This is a good development for Alberta and will give us five more voices and five more votes in Ottawa, Ontario and British Columbia are the only two other provinces, which also gain seats.

In order to create these new seats the existing electoral districts must be adjusted.

The new boundaries are proposed by a boundary commission which is chaired by a provincial appellate judge. It considers the historical pattern of communities identification with other communities in the context of a manageable geographic size.

The commission has proposed that Yellowhead, and portions of it be added to Athabasca, Red Deer and the new riding of St. Albert.

I plan to be a candidate in the new Yellowhead riding. Importantly, if a federal election is called before July 1988 the new boundaries will not be in effect. If this happens I will run as the incumbent for the current riding of Yellowhead.

The population of the new riding of Yellowhead will be 82,810 and will include all the present towns except for Beach, Corner, Edmonton Beach, Sandy Beach, Spruce Grove, Stony Plain and Wainwright that will go into the new St. Albert riding.

Naturally I will regret losing the direct contact with these communities and of course, right up until the moment a new member is elected to represent them, my office and I will continue to serve them actively and competently.

Anniversary in Banff...

By Bernice Johnson
308-2363

Congratulations to Bob and Betty Clark who celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary Dec. 28.

Their special day was spent at the Banff Springs Hotel. A gift from their children where they were treated royally. Their supper was cooked right at their table and the Anniversary Waffle was dedicated to them. Thirty years ago, the newweds had spent their honeymoon in Banff, so this trip brought back many fond memories.

A housewarming was held Jan. 2 for Carol Trimmer and family who have now moved into their new log home. It is sure to be a fine day for them from the 1 of A Hospital where he spent some time after being burned on the job. Get well wishes to Don Surget who is undergoing surgery at the Misericordia Hospital.

Shower to be held for Berry's

By Max Tryon
542-5792

Congratulations to Becky Bryant of Berrymoor and Bryan Sander of Drayton Valley, who announced their engagement recently. The wedding will be March 12, 1988.

There will be a miscellaneous shower for the Berry family at Lindale school gym on Feb. 3, starting at 7 p.m.

Anna and Jim Shaw of Duncan, B.C. attended the wedding of Tammy and Robert Perreault last month. While here, they visited son Robert Shaw and family of Sherwood Park.

After Christmas they spent about four days visiting with friends and relatives in Berrymoor. Jerry and Nelda Jacobson of Edmonton were visiting relatives in the area at the same time.

The annual Lindale Hall Association general meeting will be held Jan. 21, 7 p.m. at the Lindale hall.

Junior high girls' and boys' basketball teams had their first game in Breton Jan. 12. Although both teams were defeated, they are ready for Breton when they come to Lindale Jan. 21. Games to start about 4:30 p.m.

A group of people got together Jan. 9 to "shower" Mark and Sally Smith. Sally's parents were also included in the festivities as they were visiting at the time. A shower was also held at the same time for the newlyweds.

Berrymoor News

Weekend visitors at the Gordon Tryon home were Robert and Tammy Perreault of St. Albert.

Betty Brower of Calgary visited daughter Judy Martin for a few days earlier this month.

Salute to Minor Hockey Week...

YEKCON

Yekkon (pronounced yekko) is a funny new game.

It's hockey spelled backwards. I'll try to explain. It's a game just for parents of young hockey men.

You'll hear them at rinkside time and again. They scream and they shout, they rant and they roar.

No wonder their poor boys too nervous to score. It's a game for the memory and it's not really tough.

Any parent can do it if you practice enough. The rules are quite simple, the results are much better.

If you'll try to remember each rule by it's better. It is for yelling, which you must not do, with the exception of cheering which we're coming to.

Are emotions that embarass the boy, not exactly mayr teammates jump for joy.

K is for the kid who is trying to play. The program is his, to learn his own way.

C is for cheering, in the way you show. You have faith in your boy, just watch him go.

O is for orders, which you never about. Remember, leave these for the coach to dish out.

H is for home, which is where you should stay. If you under the boy when he comes out to play.

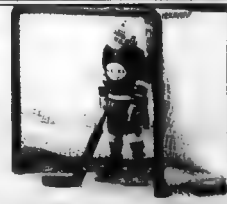

So that is the game and there's one basic theme. Remember the motto when tempted to scream.

Though we're not really trying to put you back on the shelf. Parents need not wear glasses to make spectacle of self.

Photos by Frank Ryan

Open Letter To Parents:

Well here it is another season,
So I am writing for just one reason.
Please don't scream, curse or yell,
Remember I'm not in the NHL.
I am only 11 years old
And can't be bought,
traded or sold.
I just want to have fun and play the game,
And I'm not looking for hockey fame.
Please don't make me feel I committed a sin
Just because my team didn't win.
I don't want to be great you see,
I'd rather play and just be me.
And so in closing, I'd like to give you just one tip.
The name of the game is SPORTSMANSHIP.

Income tax returns

Taxpayers' basic rights, responsibilities

Do you have a number of questions about income tax? Here's some basic information on your income tax responsibilities and rights.

Your responsibilities

Your income tax responsibilities can be summarized in one main task that you must complete by April 11 each year. Before this deadline, you must file out an income tax return.

You report all the income you have earned from all sources. You claim the deductions, personal exemptions and credits which reduce your taxable income. You then calculate your own tax payable using the tax table on Schedule 1, which is supplied with your return. If you owe tax, you will have to enclose a cheque made out to the Revenue Canada Taxation with your return.

To help you with this task, Revenue Canada Taxation sends out tax returns with a guide, a tax table and schedules to help you calculate your credits and tax payable.

Your district taxation office offers many more publications on tax subjects. An enquiries staff will also serve you, either by telephone or by letter or at the information counter. The telephone number and address of your district office can be found on the back cover of your tax guide and in the blue pages of most telephone directories.

Remember that if you evade paying tax by not filing a return or deliberately not reporting income or claiming fraudulent deductions, you may be fined from 25 per cent to 200 per cent of the tax evaded. However, at any time before Revenue Canada Taxation begins an investigation or your file, you can avoid prosecution by voluntarily disclosing all the facts relating to your earlier tax returns.

Your rights

Those are your tax responsibilities.

You should also be made aware of your fundamental rights. You have the right to obtain complete and accurate information so that you can fulfil your tax responsibilities, and to receive fair, courteous and helpful treatment in all communications concerning your tax matters.

You have the right to have the information on your return protected and dealt with in confidence and to be presumed to be honest until proven otherwise.

Moreover, you have the right to refuse to a search or seizure of property when representatives of Revenue Canada Taxation investigate your tax affairs and do not present you with a search and seizure warrant issued by a superior court judge.

You also have the right to object to the department's assessment of your return within 90 days after your notice of assessment was mailed, to have an independent review and to withhold payment of the income tax you are disputing until Revenue Canada Taxation or an independent tribunal has examined your case.

Finally, you have the right to legally plan your financial affairs to permit you to pay the minimum tax possible.

Happy New Year

Announcing new ID was special joy

Happy New Year to all of you, as I write my first MLA Report of 1988.

I hope the holiday season brought many special joys and memories that will stay with you for years to come. One of my special joys before the year ended was being able to announce the formation of a new improvement district effective Jan 1!

As you are probably aware Improvement District 222 was formed by establishing a core area consisting of selected portions of land from ID 14 and annexing certain areas of the counties of Parkland and Leduc Alberta. Municipal Affairs will now be able to plan to prepare the new ID for an orderly and acceptable transition to municipal district status by 1989.

The question of local government has been an issue in the Drayton Valley area for over 20 years.

I gave a commitment in 1979 to have it reviewed. I have been convinced that the formation of the ID responds to long standing concerns by local residents who feel they would be better served by the formation of a new municipality.

Once the implications of the Alberta Education study have been assessed, we will be able to look at further options regarding the final boundaries which will become the new ID. Votes in areas to be considered for future inclusion will be held as soon as residents have had a chance to consider the school and municipal studies designed to determine educational impact and options.

Existing school attendance areas will remain unchanged by the formation of this ID. As well, municipal bodies providing services to the areas which now constitute the new ID have been asked to continue the services through contracts until the boundaries have been finalized.

Public meetings

I will be holding public meetings in my constituency before spring session and will be available to discuss the ID issue, as well as any other issues of concern to constituents. Watch your newspapers for dates and times. I look forward to meeting with as many Drayton Valley constituents as possible and to receiving your input on important matters such as free trade.

I can be reached through my Edmonton office during the week at 422-9156 (call toll free through Zenith 22333). My Drayton Valley constituency office is open Mondays through Thursdays, the number there is 542-5355. My residence phone number is 682-3738.

No increase — Denturists

This year brings good news for Alberta denture wearers.

Denturists have announced there will be no fee increase this year.

Hubert Richardson, president of the Denturist Society of Alberta, says that even though denturist overheads, such as insurance, are increasing, his profession has decided to again hold the line on fees.

Alberta dentists have increased their 1988 fees by 4.6 per cent.

Denturists also made a no fee increase decision two years ago. Last year their fees increased only three per cent.

Denturists provide denture services direct to the public. They take the impressions, construct the dentures and fit them in the patient. The efficiency and accuracy of conducting the complete process usually results in lower costs and high satisfaction to the patient.

It is estimated that one out of every four adult Albertans wears removable complete dentures. Denturists provide 60 per cent of the dentures supplied to the senior citizens under government program.

Carnwood crash

No one was injured in a two-vehicle mishap at the Carnwood Store intersection last Monday morning. Ronald Wilson of Breton, driving a three-quarter ton GMC was eastbound on Highway 30 and Mark Hammon, also of Breton, in a one-ton Ford, entered the intersection from the south. There was extensive damage to both vehicles.

Academic achievement awards are presented...

By Shelli Carson
696-2290

Congratulations to Kristine and Maxwell Sarvas of Warburg, on the birth of a son, Cody Allen. Cody was born Jan. 2 at the Breton General Hospital at 10:36 a.m. and weighed in at 3240 grams.

The New Years baby was presented with a lovely lyricette by the Breton General Hospital Auxiliary. The items were donated by various businesses and individuals in Breton and area.

Breton high school held their annual Christmas and awards program Dec. 17. The program was presented by the junior high drama class under the direction of Laurie Festwick.

Awards were presented to last year's Grade 12 students for their academic achievements. Many of the students were unable to attend but most sent representative letters to accept for them.

The Parents' Association awarded for having the third highest average, went to Joan Melnick. Breton high school staff awards were presented to Kendal Power.

Breton News

Ian Schumacher, Joan McCallister and Joan Melnick of the Women's Institute award for the second highest average went to Ian Schumacher. Kendal Power received the ATA Leduc Local 65 award. Ian Schumacher and Kendal Power both received the County of Leduc 35 award. Rutherford Scholarship awards were presented to Kendal Power, Ian Schumacher and Joan McCallister.

Kendal Power received the Bow Driver's award and long service awards were presented to Mr. Stuart (20 years), Mr. Hanson (15 years) and Mr. Peewess (10 years). Warburg Legion donated $500 to the Breton General Hospital to purchase a deep freezer for blood products.

The Warburg Legion would like to acknowledge the participation of students from Breton junior and senior high school for their contributions to the Canadian Legion.

Literary contest winners included Adrian Dorsey, who won first in three categories: Wesley Van Der Zouwen first, intermediate; Karlene Van Der Zouwen second in intermediate. All prizes were won at branch level. Cheques were presented to the winners at the Christmas concert and awards presentation Dec. 17 by Legion members Mark Hooks and Ken Bishop.

Warburg Flyers Atom hockey team has had a good tournament season to date, having won both they entered. The team travelled to Rocky Mountain House for a 4-team tourney Dec. 19 and 20, coming home with the championship trophy. They defeated Lacombe 8-2, Red Deer 2-0 and the Sunshine Ford team from Drayton Valley 12-3. In a real clincher against Rocky Mountain House the team was able to tie the game in the last couple of minutes, finishing with a 1-1 score. The trophy was given on a scale for and against basis as the Hooks team had also gone undefeated.

In the Leduc B tourney Dec. 27, 28 and 29, the team found a little stiffer competition and worked hard to remain undefeated in round robin play. They again over Midwadows and Sherwood Park 8-2. In a tight game against Fort McMurray, the team again pulled the tying goal out in time. They faced Sherwood Park again in the final game and won 4-2.

The team is made up of boys and one girl from the Breton Warburg and Winfield areas.

Something for everyone at Olympic Arts Festival

The most spectacular Olympic winter arts festival in the history of the teams will open in Calgary this winter, a grand introduction to the XX Olympic Winter Games.

And there's no better way to take a great Alberta break this winter than by attending one of these world class artistic events.

The Olympic Arts Festival will celebrate the world's literary, visual and performing arts for five weeks, beginning Jan. 22 and winding up at the close of the Games on Feb. 28.

This $10 million extravaganza will showcase the diversity and excellence of Canadian and international artists before a projected audience of 1.2 million people. Cautious others will share the excitement of the arts festival when an expected 1.5 billion viewers tune in to international television coverage of the Games.

Both premiere and proven works will be featured in Calgary's superb selection of festival facilities, enough to accommodate approximately 2,200 artists in more than 600 performances and exhibitions.

The festival opens with a gala performance Jan. 23 at the Olympic Saddledome. Highlights of the event will be a massed choir performance under the direction of maestro Mario Bernardi, and an Olympic Jazz Suite commissioned by Canada's legendary jazz pianist Oscar Peterson.

For the following five weeks, dozens of events in from downtown Calgary to Canmore, nestled in the Rockies Mountains near Banff. Here's just a small handful of highlights from the largest performing, visual and literary arts will occur simultaneously at 21 venues.

music Winter Olympics arts program ever.

Leshwin's masterpiece Perry and Beas, will be staged for the first time in Canada by the Calgary Opera Association under the direction of the Shaw Festival's Christopher Newton and with the accompaniment of the Calgary Philharmonic Orchestra.

The Calgary Philharmonic will also present Mahler's Symphony No. 2 (The Resurrection) under the baton of illustrious guest conductor Franz Paul Decker, as well as providing the accompaniment for one of opera's newest international sensations, the Korean soprano Hei Kyung Hong.

Some of the leading drummers and percussionists from Canada and around the world will come together for two unique Calgary and Banff concerts called World Drums. Jazz will be represented by a specially assembled Olympic youth jazz festival, led by Bob McConnell.

A rock music spectacular is planned for the Olympic Saddledome and an evening with some of folk music's greatest performers will be held at the Jubilee Auditorium. The Jubilee will also host Montreal's brilliant musical impressionist Andre Philippe Gagnon as he premieres his newest program.

No security in material goods

By Tim Lees
Youth Pastor
Calvary Baptist Church
Security is a sense of well-being, a feeling of reassurance by those around us, an inner assurance that we're a part of a happiness with whom we are and the way we are.

We don't feel yet so many of us are lacking. Some professionals say as high as 95 per cent of mankind struggle in some way or another with feelings of insecurity.

There are lots of reasons why we feel insecure. Some people have been hurt in the past. They have been rejected and as a result, question their self worth.

Some have never had a consistent home or family life in which to grow up. Some people have never known what it means to be loved — I mean really loved for who they are, not for what they do or how they look or act. Some have never been affirmed and built up by those who have influence in their lives.

It hurts me when I see people trying to find security

the
Pen!

In happiness and happiness in things that don't last. So many think security is found in how they look or their ability to play a sport or their academic ability, or in belonging to a club or what kind of car or house they have, or in their job or in their pocket, and the list goes on.

That to me is frightening because none of these things will last! Sudden accident or illness can mar our physical appearance and abilities. There is no security in material goods, jobs, or money. Recent economic fluctuations point that out all too clearly.

There is only one source of security — God.

People change, stock markets change, our physical and intellectual abilities change. But God never changes. What His word the Bible says can be taken at face value. There is no new improved version of the Bible.

Does it not make sense to consider God as our source of security? When everything else we can rely on is gone, God is still there? When relationships with people change, God remains the same.

When we doubt our own value, God says, "I love you. I love you so much that I gave My only Son Jesus, that whoever believes in Him will not perish but have eternal life." John 3:16.

Soul-warming stews

Wonderful aroma may make you forget about freezing portions

Colder weather calls for soul-warming comfort foods and a hearty beef stew or curry fits the bill.

A little organization and time can provide three meals for four people. Make this versatile beef stew base, then divide into three equal portions. You can then have quick meals three nights in a row or tuck them in the freezer for future dinners.

Browning the stewing beef in the oven rather than frying on top of the stove is faster, much less messy and eliminates the fat used for frying.

After browning, combine all the base ingredients and simmer until tender. Be aware though, that the wonderful aroma may make you forget about packing it away in the freezer.

Once defrosted, choose between Sweet and Sour Stew, Beef Bayou or spicy creole mixture. Curried Beef or Beef and Brew Dip to make a fast and delicious meal.

BEEF BAYOU

A taste of Louisiana, hot and spicy.

- 1 portion cooked beef stew base defrosted
- 1 can tomatoes
- 1/4 cup uncooked rice
- 1 tsp paprika
- 1/2 tsp each onion powder & garlic powder
- 1/4 tsp each cayenne, black pepper, white pepper, thyme & pimento leaves

In a saucepan, combine all ingredients. Bring to boil, reduce heat, cover and simmer about 30 minutes or until rice is cooked. Serve with cucumber slices and carrot sticks. Makes 4 servings.

CURRIED BEEF

Serve with crisp, cool apple wedges or fresh vegetables.

- 1 portion cooked beef stew base defrosted
- 1 onion, chopped
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 1 tsp curry powder
- 2 potatoes, peeled, cut in 1" cubes

In a saucepan, combine all ingredients. Bring to boil, reduce heat, cover and simmer 25 minutes or until. Serve over cooked rice or noodles. Makes 4 servings.

BEEF AND BREW DIP

A hearty and delicious stew served with french bread to soak up all the broth.

- 1 portion cooked beef stew base, defrosted
- 1 tsp sugar
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 1 bay leaf
- 1/2 tsp thyme leaves
- 1 bottle beer
- 2 large carrots, cut in chunks

Icefishing offers accessibility, reasonable costs

Now that winter's an established fact, you might think it's high time to have packed away your rod and reel, retired your favorite creel, and stored your lot over bait where the cat won't get at it.

But if you can't bear another passive season of nostalgia fishing memories, there's another great Alberta break available to you this winter on many of the province's lakes. Icefishing. Check with Travel Alberta at 427-4321 (Edmonton only) or phone the toll-free number 1-800-222-6501 for more information about icefishing in the province — in the meantime read on.

Gaining in popularity

According to Alberta Forestry, Lands and Wildlife, icefishing has gained a tremendous following here over the past 10 years.

Most of the province's good fishing lakes are also good refishing lakes, with the added bonus of immediate accessibility — that is, you can drive out onto the ice and set up for the day without fussing with rowboats, launch ches or waders.

Another advantage is the wide variety and reasonable prices of icefishing equipment now stocked in Alberta's sporting goods outlets. Icefishermen and women can now obtain all the extras that make the sport really enjoyable (like a good icefishing tent and portable heater) for relatively little cash outlay.

Call for lake conditions

But for those whose never tried icefishing, here's a thumbnail sketch of the sport, and what you can expect when you commit yourself to a day of winter angling.

Like all fishing-related sports, icefishing requires a bit of lake know-how, a sense of environmental ethics and a certain degree of patience.

Alberta Forestry, Lands and Wildlife recommends you call your district fish and wildlife office for information on lake conditions before you head out — they can not only tell you which lakes should be avoided, but where you might find the fish biting that day.

Check fishing regulations

You should also check the latest issue of Forestry, Lands and Wildlife's Guide to Sportfishing Regulations for specifications on size and possession limits on fish and remember that summer regulations apply to winter catches.

power ice auger, or even an axe or ice pick.

Fish slow down in winter

Being cold-blooded animals, fish slow down during the winter months and are less inclined to feed heavily. However, you can tempt yellow perch, whitefish, pike, walleye and trout from ice-bound lakes with maggot bait or spoons, and with the help of a selection of fishing rods developed especially for the sport.

Icefishing rods are either held by hand over the ice hole, or set up on self-supporting tripods known as tip ups.

These are spring-loaded fishing rods which instantly record a strike by tripping a small flag for the fisherman's attention. And because these rigs stand independently, tip ups allow the icefisherman to fish from more than one hole on the lake in Alberta, you may operate up to three icefishing holes at any one set time.

Although tents and heaters have made the sport a much warmer pastime, icefishing is still best on sunny winter days when wind conditions are fairly mild.

Most important for comfortable icefishing is a good pair of warm boots (add extra layers of socks for insulation), and waterproof down-filled outer garments.

If you're new to icefishing, you'll want to consult with the nearest sporting goods outlet for information on a full range of equipment, clothing and bait, after natives. You can also call your district fish and wildlife office for the best icefishing lakes in your immediate area.

Enjoy a day of icefishing on your next Alberta break — it's a whole new dimension of angling adventure.

Riding the bus provides chance to people-watch

One of the things most university goers take for granted is riding the bus.

I don't take it lightly at all. In fact, it is something I enjoy.

On the bus everyone and all cultures come together and are bound by one common bond: going in one common direction—usually school. It doesn't matter whether we sit or stand, we are all the same on that bus.

Speaking of standing—The first time I had to stand on the bus was quite interesting. It had rained the bus one morning in September and found I was one of the 'lucky' ones, having to stand for the journey!

For some reason, I was dreading the day and then it happened. It started off not so bad, but as the trip dragged on, with my holding on to the bar, droplets of sweat formed between my shoulder blades and began to trickle one by one down my back. The feeling was very uncomfortable.

Now, standing is common place.

If all the people on the bus are always fun to watch. The game everybody plays is "try not to look at anyone else." It's variation is to try not to let anyone know you are looking at them!

With most people, it becomes a full-time job, a preoccupation. I don't bother I, as a chronic 'people watcher' and those who have this disease watch people constantly.

One of my favorite games is to choose a person and let my imagination run wild with stories. Most people I choose turn out to be escapees from insane asylums or crazed murderers. Or sometimes politicians, but only on rare occasions.

Getting stuck between two people who decide to have a conversation can be rather interesting. A certain couple discussed what had gone on during the past two years of life, about someone's brother who was in Fort McMurray and what their professions were. I tried not to pay attention but it was not too interesting listening to two friends who hadn't seen each other for two years.

You also meet some very interesting people on the bus. I have made a friend I wanted to say several while riding the bus. I made the mistake of talking to someone and, according to my cousin, "it simply isn't done." I'd rather be friendly than a staring statue.

Buses are a major part of campus life and for me, a very enjoyable part of it.

Cleaning up the streets

Following the recent snowfall Drayton Valley's snowplow was seen clearing the roads, making for safer driving conditions.

Family divides traditional and English Christmas dishes

By Steve Fletcher

For Bill and Dolores Roos celebrating Ukrainian Christmas with friends and family has been taken to the extreme.

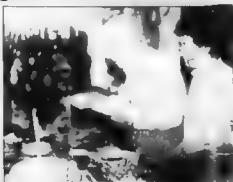

Every year the Roos family hold an old fashioned get together at their Drayton Valley area farm.

And Dolores has made it a point to invite one new person to dinner each Christmas.

This tradition has created a lot of work for Dolores, who prepares the entire dinner on her own, usually meaning a long day in the kitchen that ends in the wee hours of the morning.

Dolores said this year's turnout, about 40 people, was not the biggest. She noted that 68 friends and relatives showed up one Christmas several years ago. And that was before we had the "living room" in addition to the "dining room" who catered to her.

Bill and Dolores Roos celebrate Ukrainian Christmas with about 10 friends and relatives last week.

Only 175 rigs

Low drilling levels mystify specialists

The low level of drilling activity in the province continues to mystify rig operators who had been predicting an increase in activity last month.

There were only 175 rigs drilling on Jan. 12, well below the 300 rigs the Canadian Oilwell Drilling Contractors Association had predicted. Gordon Rawan, the association chairman, pointed to lower oil prices and the stock market crash as to possible reasons.

The figures are over 200 rigs drilling in mid-December and well below last year's levels.

Double Dare launched

Chance to win twice

Western Canada Lottery Corporation launches its second $2 instant game Jan. 25 Double Dare.

A first for scratch and win enthusiasts, Double Dare features two games on one large ticket. The games are Money Wheel and Play 21.

With Money Wheel, players match one of the latex covered money symbols on the outside of the wheel to the latex covered money symbol on the centre hub. Prizes range from $2 to $500.

With Play 21, players rub the latex face cards to reveal the number under each. If the sum of the player's hand beats the dealer's hand, or the dealer busts, the player wins the prize indicated in the latex covered prize box. Play 21 prizes range from $5 to $21,000.

Double Dare gives the chance to win twice on one ticket, doubling the fun for instant lottery fans.

Seed cleaning conference set for January 21

Supporters of Alberta's seed cleaning cooperatives will be in Edmonton a late January for the annual convention of the Association of Alberta Coop Seed Cleaning Plants Ltd.

Association members and managers from the 77 seed cleaning plants across Alberta will be at the Westin Hotel Jan. 21 to 23 for the 35th annual meeting which will take a look at future agricultural trends. Dr. Bob Church will be the keynote speaker at the conference which will be opened by Agriculture Associate Minister Shirley Gripps.

Other speakers at the conference will include Alberta Agriculture specialists Bob Park, Fred Boyce, Blair Shaw, Wayne Jackson, Larry Welsh, Bob Nelson, Murray McLelland and Cal Brandley who will cover topics from seed production and marketing to agricultural law.

Edmonton TV weather man Bill Matheson will also give a talk on weather patterns.

Along with the speakers the conference will receive the association's annual reports, discuss resolutions and finalize the 1988 budget. A ladies' program is offered during the convention and the seed cleaning plant managers will also hold their annual meeting on Jan. 22.

For more information on the conference contact Murray McLelland in Lacombe at 762-9411.

'Mary Phagan' explores the nature of prejudice

By Paul Ellis

"The Murder of Mary Phagan," which airs Sunday, Jan. 24 and Tuesday, Jan. 26 on NBC, has been hailed as Jack Lemmon's return to television.

Peter Gallagher

Lemmon plays John Staton, a Georgia governor who bucked public opinion when he commuted the sentence of convicted killer Leo Frank in 1915. It is his first TV role since he starred in the TV movie "The Entertainer" in 1975.

But the real star of the five-hour miniseries is Peter Gallagher, who plays Frank. "I'd do the same thing if I were the network," Gallagher says of Lemmon's "Isp" billing. "But Leo is really the main character."

As the miniseries begins, Frank, a Jewish native of Brooklyn, has moved to Atlanta, where he runs a pencil factory staffed by farmhands who have been displaced by industrialization. When a 13-year-old employee named Mary Phagan is found dead, latent anti-Semitic, anti-Northern and anti-industrial feelings combine to implicate Frank.

To make a long story short, he is convicted of murder," Gallagher explains. "After 13 appeals are denied, Staton concludes that Frank wasn't given a fair trial. But this outrages the populace, and Frank is eventually dragged out of jail and lynched by the Knights of Mary Phagan." Frank was pardoned in 1982 after a former witness's new testimony revealed the true murderer.

The miniseries, like the Larry McMurtry story on which it is based, explores the nature of prejudice.

"It's a complicated issue, with your allegiances constantly flipping back and forth," Gallagher says. "And it's also a true story. If we've done our job right it should really resonate."

Gallagher has taken a roundabout path to TV stardom. Early in his career, he starred in the short-lived 1980 series "Skag" and the films "The Idolmaker" (1980) and "Summer Lovers" (1982), but he came to prominence on Broadway, appearing in "The Real Thing" in 1985 and winning a Tony Award for his performance in the 1986 revival of "A Long Day's Journey Into Night," which starred Lemmon as James Tyrone.

Not long afterward, Gallagher and Lemmon were co-starring in "Mary Phagan." "We only had one scene together," Gallagher says. "But working with Jack again was like having a great ally. And we could play golf together on our days off."
